DETAILED ACTION

1. This action is in response to the interview on 5/17/10. As discussed in the interview summary form and for reasons discussed below, the application is in condition for allowance of claim 1.

EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

2. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Mr. Daniel Gibson on 5/17/10.

The application has been amended as follows:

1. (Currently Amended) Device for recovering anaesthetics in anaesthetic treatment of a patient, which device comprises;

a housing having a first opening and a second opening for formation of a flow path to and from the patient in the housing for a breathing medium, an absorption body arranged in the housing and having a capacity of absorbing and desorbing anaesthetics, a valve means comprising a rotatable unit that is adjustable between an active position, in which a flow path to and from the patient passes through the absorption body, and a passive position, in which a flow path to and from the patient passes through the housing without passing through the absorption body, wherein the absorption body retains unchanged location in the housing in both valve positions, wherein one of said openings is arranged at the rotatable unit, said opening being in a first rotational position on a side of the absorption body and in a second rotational position on an opposite side of the absorption body, wherein the housing is in the form of a box having a height that is smaller than a smallest extension thereof transverse to the height, wherein the absorption body is plate-shaped and is in the active position thereof substantially perpendicular to the height, and wherein the housing is configured such that, in both the active and passive positions, air flows from each opening in a flow direction that is substantially parallel to a plane defined by a plate-shaped surface of the absorption body.

REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

3. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: when read in light of the limitations of the claimed anaesthetic recovering device, the prior art of record by itself or in combination does not disclose the specific structure as recited in claim 1 such that a housing with two openings and including a valve means in the form of a rotatable unit form that is adjustable between an active and passive position in which a flow path passes to and from the patient either through (active) or bypasses (passive) an absorption body having a capacity of absorbing and desorbing anaesthetics wherein the housing is configured such that the direction of the flow paths in both the active and passive positions is substantially parallel to a plane defined by the plate-shaped surface of the absorption body.

The closest prior art references are: Marler et al. (7,347,203), Ahlmen et al. (7,077,136), and Werner et al. (5,044,361) which all relate to anaesthetic (Ahlmen and Werner) or heat and moisture (Marler) absorption bodies.

The prior art of record does not disclose the structural or functional limitations of the claimed device such that a housing with rotatable valve means with an active and passive position in which a flow path passes to and from the patient either through (active) or bypasses (passive) an absorption body having a capacity of absorbing and desorbing anaesthetics wherein the housing is configured such that the direction of the flow paths in both the active and passive positions is substantially parallel to a plane defined by the plate-shaped surface of the absorption body. The prior art of record teaches absorption bodies housed in a housing with valve means but does not disclose specifically the limitation of the flow paths, in both an active and passive positions, having a direction of flow that is substantially parallel to a plane defined by the plate-shaped surface of the absorption body.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
